

EVERSO NEWS

Our purpose is to unlock potential through learning.

Take a course with us!

We're CPD accredited, and there's something for everyone available on our website!

With everyone being told to stay at home right now, there's no better time to take an online course. We're fully CPD certified, which means that any courses you take with us are nationally recognised and accredited.

We currently have a grand total of 450 courses available on our website, so you're sure to find something that catches your eye - from public speaking to social selling to content writing for the web.

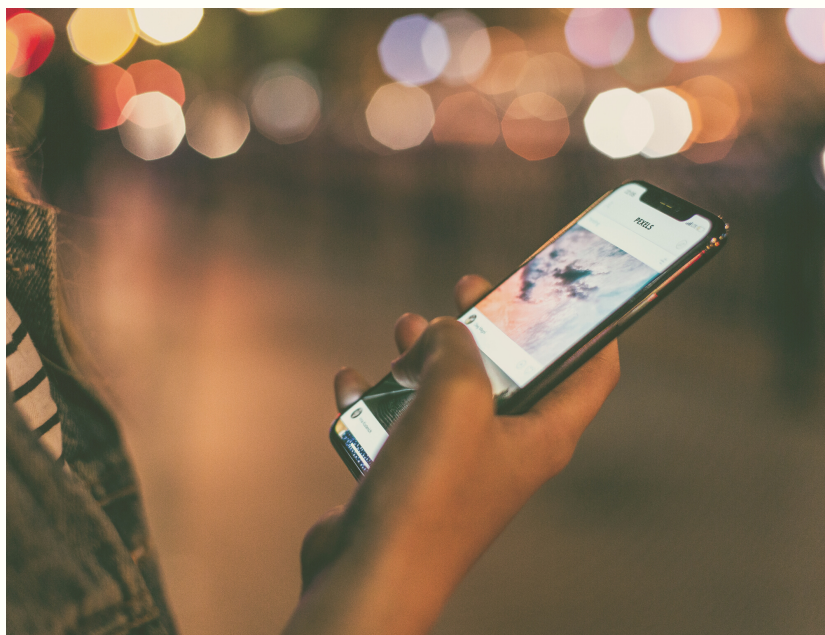

All our online courses are priced between £10-£25, but we're offering discounts for bulk purchases. Talk to Emma for more details by emailing emma@eversotraining.co.uk.

We look forward to welcoming you onto one of our online courses soon!

New app available!

We have just released the newest version of our app! You can download it from the iOS App Store or Google Play by searching for Everso Training. Make sure you download it for the best experience when training with us.

COVID-19 Advice

We know that it's confusing right now, and we want to help.

Global public health is in a difficult situation right now, and we are all having to make adjustments for the good of our communities. However, that doesn't mean you're totally alone.

We're offering advice and COVID-19 safety courses, as well as more general safeguarding and safe working courses on our website.

Don't forget to keep in close touch with loved ones during this time, as social distancing is harder for some than for others. We recommend you use your online channels to the fullest extent right now in order to stay connected, and we at Everso Training will always be here to lend an ear.

Coronavirus
Looking out for each other

You must stay at home, but there are safe ways to provide essential support to vulnerable people who are in isolation.

HOW YOU CAN HELP:

- ☑ Phone or keep in touch on social media
- ☑ Pick up food for others
- ☑ Pick up medicines
